NARRATIVE ON THE NOMINATION AND SELECTION PROCESS

Nomination of schools by the Regional Offices

The nomination process for selecting pilot schools for the Strengthened Senior High School program was structured into four distinct phases, as outlined in the memorandum jointly released by the Office of the Secretary and the Office of the Undersecretary for Operations last April 4, 2025 (OM-OSEC-OUOPS-2025-01-02265).

Initially, the Regional Offices (ROs) and Schools Division Offices (SDOs) coordinated with the schools to promote awareness of the reform and to confirm interest from potential participants. The Central Office provided all the orientation materials to ensure consistency in messaging.

In the second phase, schools undertook individual planning based on their teaching complement and available learning resources. They created inventories of their teachers and assessed whether they had qualified personnel and necessary materials to support the electives they intended to offer. Schools also considered the availability of industry partners for work immersion, which was a crucial factor for TechPro electives. Based on this assessment, the schools prepared an indicative list of electives that they could realistically offer.

The third phase involved guiding learners in preparing their Plan of Study using Module 4 of the Landas toolkit. Schools organized orientation sessions for parents and students, which covered the Strengthened SHS Program's features, available electives, sample class programs, and Plan of Study. Learners then worked through Module 4 of the Landas Toolkit, and the schools used the learners' inputs to finalize the list of electives that they would offer.

Finally, in the fourth phase, Regional Offices collected and reviewed the reports submitted by schools, including the finalized list of electives, proposed class programs, and teachers' workloads. Regional Offices provided scores for the schools based on their reports, using the rubric in Table 1. The scores of the schools were encoded by the regional focal persons through the nomination forms, which were closed by April 23, 2025.

Based on their final score, schools were categorized into the following readiness levels:

- 4.0 - 3.5: Highly Ready
- 3.4 - 2.5: Moderately Ready
- 2.4 - 1.5: Needs Improvement
- Below 1.5: Not Ready

Regional Offices then chose their official nominees using the scores as their reference. Since no cut-off score was provided, regions were allowed to nominate schools regardless of their readiness level.

Table 1

Rubric on the Nomination of Pilot Schools

Criteria	4 - Excellent	3 - Good	2 - Fair	1 - Poor
A. Diversity of Electives Offering (30%)	The school offers both Academic and TechPro electives. Within the Academic track, the school offers electives across all 5 clusters. Within the TechPro track, the school offers at least 4 electives.	The school offers only Academic or TechPro electives. Within the Academic track, the school offers electives in 3-4 clusters. Within the TechPro track, the school offers 3 electives.	The school offers only Academic or TechPro electives. Within the Academic track, the school offers electives in 2 clusters. Within the TechPro track, the school offers 2 electives.	The school offers only Academic or TechPro electives. Within the Academic track, the school offers electives in 1 cluster. Within the TechPro track, the school offers 1 elective.
B. Sufficiency of Teachers (40%)	All TechPro elective teachers have NC/TM certification. All teachers have no teaching overload.	Almost all TechPro elective teachers have NC/TM certification. Almost all teachers have no teaching overload.	Half of the TechPro elective teachers have NC/TM certification. Half of the teachers have no teaching overload.	No TechPro elective teachers have NC/TM certification. All teachers have teaching overload.
C. Availability of Facilities and Learning Resources (30%)	Facilities and resources are available for all electives and sections.	Facilities are available for all electives and sections, but there are limitations in the learning resources available.	Facilities are available, but may not necessarily be conducive to learning due to limited space. Some electives lack appropriate resources, or quality is inconsistent.	There is a severe lack of learning resources. Facilities are insufficient, such that the school needs to implement double shifting or alternative delivery modes.

Selection of Schools at the Central Office

The Central Office Selection Committee received 1,277 nominees from the regional offices, with 281 (22%) private schools and 996 (78%) public schools. The regional breakdown is presented in Table 2.

The Selection Committee at the Central Office convened last April 25, 2025, to discuss the options for the selection of schools. It was decided in this meeting that only schools that reached the highly ready category would be included in the pilot. A total of 755 schools are part of this category, with 169 (22.4%) private schools and 586 (77.6%) public schools. The regional distribution by level of readiness is presented in Table 3.

Before finalizing the list of schools, the Selection Committee formed a subcommittee to encode and review the reports of the nominated schools. This process also served as an opportunity to validate the reports' contents, specifically whether the schools had identified the electives they would offer, outlined teacher workloads, and included sample class programs, as required in the initial nomination stages.

During the validation, the Selection Committee, through the Office of the Undersecretary for Operations, reached out to the Regional Directors and their focal persons to address issues regarding the inaccessibility of some reports. Authorized focal persons were provisionally given access to the nomination forms. A total of 23 schools were removed from the list during this process, resulting in a total of 732 schools.

Finally, additional data from the EBEIS were retrieved to create a more comprehensive profile of the pilot schools. During this process, 5 schools were removed as it was found that they had not previously offered Senior High School and are still processing their permit to operate.

Hence, a total of 727 schools were initially identified to participate in the pilot implementation of the Strengthened Senior High School Program.

Adjustments based on feedback from the Senate Committee on Basic Education and Culture

Last May 8, 2025, the Senate Committee on Basic Education and Culture held a hearing to discuss the Strengthened Senior High School Program of the Department of Education. During the discussion, the profile of the pilot schools was presented. It was raised that there should be additional representation for rural schools and private schools so that DepEd can prepare more adequately to support these kinds of schools in the full roll-out of the new curriculum.

In response, the Selection Committee added to the list all moderately ready private schools and moderately ready rural public schools. This added a total of 114 more schools, resulting in a total of 841 schools. The regional summary of the final list of schools is presented in Table 4.
